1. From 12 to 16 September 1949 all foreign nationals in Tsingtao were required to register with the Foreign Resident Control Section of the Chinese Communist Bureau of Public Safety. Each person registering was given a detailed questionnaire to be completed and returned at a set date and time, when a personal interview would be conducted. Before the registration each person had to go to a specified hospital to take a physical examination. Without a doubt the examination was for the purpose of recording a detailed physical description.
2. During the past six weeks Communist control of the Tsingtao dock area has been tightened.
